

Are Mobile Phones Necessary?

I strongly believe that mobile phones are necessary. My reasons for this belief is that mobile phones are convenient for business people who travel a lot, and they are handy to have in case of an emergency.

To begin with, mobile phones are necessary because they are convenient for business people. For example, if you are out of the state or even working overseas and you have to contact a client to do some important work, it is useful to have one to use. By using a mobile phone, important information can be received. People can't stay in an office all day waiting for their phone to ring. Some people have to go and do jobs or they will go out of business. What's even better is that you can even send faxes or messages and use the internet with your mobile.

My other main reason is that mobile phones are necessary to have in case of an emergency. For instance, if you fall down a flight of stairs in a building and you are badly injured and can't reach a pay phone, it is good to have a mobile phone on hand to use. Or, if your car breaks down in the middle of the night in a strange neighbourhood, it would be dangerous to leave it in search of a public phone booth. Not only will you worry about your car being neglected, but you could also put yourself in a lot of danger.

In conclusion, I believe that mobile phones have now become a necessary part of our everyday life. Instant communication will ensure that information can be passed on with a simple press of a button. Whether this is to do with business or personal information or emergencies, it goes to show that they are necessary in our lives.
